Learn about Cuba's unique marine environment during an Oceans for Youth Foundation People-to-People educational program. You will fly into Havana where a full day will be spent meeting with scientists about Cuba's marine parks. Transportation is provided to the southern town of Jucaro, where the Jardines Aggressor liveaboard docks. Guests will depart for six days of scuba diving in the Gardens of the Queen (Jardines de la Reina) National Park, one of the oldest marine national parks in the world, located 60 miles off the southern coast. Our itinerary is the best of the Gardens of the Queens including some newly opened areas known for sharks and other big animals. Biologists will host discussions and presentations covering many topics including: proper mooring procedures and installations, fish tagging, commercial fishing and other local environmental issues.
